

New from Praeger Security International PSI Guides to Terrorists, Insurgents, and Armed Groups

Dr. James J.F. Forest, Series Editor

The newly established series, PSI Guides to Terrorist, Insurgents, and Armed Groups, is comprised of organizational biographies, each 5-7 narrative chapters in length that provide a concise overview of the subject matter. Envisioned as works aimed at a broad audience, not specifically specialists in their respective fields, these volumes will chronicle the origins, growth, activities, and in some cases, the demise of terrorist organizations, insurgencies, and armed groups from around the globe, while addressing issues of international security, transnational threats, and regional concerns specific to each entity. Beyond the narrative chapters, each work must include content specific appendices. These will consist of brief biographical sketches of leaders, prominent organizational members and a timeline of key organizational events (establishment of, key events such as hijackings, bombings, taking/releasing hostages, etc.). When possible, documents that illustrate organizational philosophies, organizational responses to international actions, or national policies directed toward the organizations would be a welcome inclusion in any appendix.

James J.F. Forest, Ph.D. is Director of Terrorism Studies and Associate Professor of Political Science at the United States Military Academy. He teaches courses in terrorism, counterterrorism, information warfare and other topics, and directs a series of research initiatives and education programs for the Combating Terrorism Center at West Point. Dr. Forest has published 13 books and dozens of articles and book chapters covering topics such as terrorist recruitment, training, and organizational knowledge transfer. He holds a TS/SCI security clearance with the U.S. Department of Defense, and has worked on numerous policy and research initiatives for various government agencies.
